Make a whole-hour time

Place the paper hands on the centre dot. Or draw them with a pencil.

LONG HAND → 12

SHORT HAND → HOUR

Read it. Change it. Write a new time.

Paper hands can simply be placed flat. A fastener is not required.

Paper hands and time cards

A grown-up cuts the outside shapes. Place each round end on the mat's centre.

If you prefer, skip the cutouts and complete every worksheet with a pencil.

Grown-up clock guide

Model together. Practise a little. Then try the mixed reviews.

START WHEN NUMBERS 1–12 ARE SECURE

Suggested ages 5–7 with support. This pack teaches whole hours only.

The long minute hand points to 12. The short hour hand points to the hour.

Hand length is the main clue; the two colours provide extra support.

SIX TASKS ON EACH FOCUS PAGE

Read the clock, match digital time, draw each missing hand, find one hour before and after, then make a whole-hour time of the child's own.

Our 12-hour clock repeats: 12 is followed by 1. AM and PM are not shown.

GUIDED PRACTICE, THEN MIXED REVIEW

Pages 1–12 model every hour. Page 13 mixes six reading questions.

Page 14 gives six times for the child to draw. Try a few tasks at a time.

REUSABLE CLOCK AND PIECES

Print pages 15–16 at actual size. A grown-up cuts around each paper hand and the twelve time cards. Place the round ends on the clock's centre dot.

Keep the long hand on 12. Turn the short hand to the chosen hour.

The pieces can lie flat; no fastener, slit cutting or glue is required.

CHECK TOGETHER

Any own time from 1:00 to 12:00 is valid when both hands agree with it.

Use the answer page to check the focus and mixed tasks. Read times aloud.
